Stricken Flier, Wife Reunited

Lt. Robert Wesselhoeft, who was stricken with infantile paralysis in June in the Chinese hinterlands and later flown to Washington from India, is reunited with his wife, Mrs. Nancy Stevens Wesselhoeft of Westwood, in Walter Reed Hospital after she flew to the capital to join him for their first meeting in 13 months. Here the officer, temporarily out of his "iron lung," smiles broadly as he looks at a picture showing his six-month-old son, Robert, III, whom he has never seen.

Big 4 'Peace By Force' Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The United States, Britain, Russia and China announced a tentative and incomplete plan today for converting the United Nations into a peace organization backed by powerful armed forces, including special air detachments capable of lightning blows against any future aggressors.

Authority to use these forces would be vested in a "United Nations security council" of 14 members, of which "The Big Four" and France would hold permanent seats.

Forces would be contributed by all nations, including the United States, under special agreements to use them as the council might direct. This proposal appears certain to provide one of the principal points for debate in this country.

Announcement came as United Nations diplomats foresaw the possibility of an early four-power meeting "at the highest level" to tighten war-end relations and complete the security organization's blueprint.

While the plan laid down by the four nations provides for air forces to be "immediately available" and for all others to be supplied at the "call" of the council, one authority said it still was to be decided how this would be accomplished in this country.

This official spokesman, who would not be quoted by name, declined to state specifically the United States would have to make binding agreements so it would not be necessary to go to Congress each time force was called for.

The security plan, which also provides detailed proposals for peaceful settlement of disputes, it tentative because it has not been formally accepted by any government involved.

Drawn up at the Dumbarton Oaks conferences which ended Saturday, it was issued in textual form by State Sec. Hull, who described it as an "effort to make permanent a victory purchased at so heavy a cost in blood, in tragic suffering and in treasure."

Solely Hull warned in an accompanying statement that the road to establishment of the proposed organization "will be long and difficult," adding "much work remains to be done before completed proposals can be laid down for a full-dress United Nations conference to bring the organization into being."

Under Secy. Stettinius, chairman of the Dumbarton Oaks sessions, said in his report to Hull none of the gaps in the plan is "in any sense insuperable."

The chief unresolved problem is how the council should vote on questions of aggression.

Russia contended the big powers should retain the right to veto any decisions involving charges

FD Says Plan Dooms 'Hitlers'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)

—After the detailed plan for peace by force was presented to the world today, President Roosevelt asserted the task of designing the future security of the world "has been well begun."

The organization, Mr. Roosevelt said in a statement, represents "a major objective for which this war is being fought, and as such, it inspires the highest hopes of the millions of fathers and mothers whose sons and daughters are engaged in fering of war."

Yanks Fighting in Aachen

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The multiplied blows of Lt. Gen. Hodges' First Army threatened a 20-mile-wide break-through toward Cologne and Dusseldorf today as American fighting men pinched the Aachen escape gap to four miles or less. They were reported fighting within Aachen itself after sending patrols and small armored task forces to feel out the garrison, which possibly had been reduced to only 1500 last-ditch SS Guards.

Battleships Silence Marcus Coast Guns

By Associated Press

A strong U. S. battleforce stood off Japan's tiny Marcus island all day yesterday and with "deliberate and destructive gunfire" silenced "the greater part of the coast defense batteries."

Neither Adm. Nimitz' surprise announcement early today nor a previous report by Tokyo made mention of planes attacking or defending the outpost island 1135 miles southeast of Tokyo.

Shore defenses and installations were heavily damaged by the attack, which Tokyo said included the 16-inch guns of U. S. battleships. The attack was carried out by units of Adm. Halsey's Third Fleet which has been pounding the Philippines and the Palau islands. It was the fourth attack by fleet forces on the tiny island.

The German Transocean News Agency said over the weekend about 1000 American planes raided Koror, administrative center of Japanese mandated islands situated in the heart of Palau.

In the conquest of nine southern Palau islands, marines and soldiers have killed 1223 Japanese and captured 225 since they first landed Sept. 15.

Adm. Nimitz announced last night that ground troops advancing behind Corsair planes dropping 1000-pound bombs made small gains against the only remaining pocket of Japanese on Peleliu, largest of the conquered islands.

Chinese troops prepared for a last ditch defense of the only remaining U. S. center in Southwest China at Kweilin.

Chinese reported some successes against Japanese invasion forces in the vicinity of Fochow on the central coast, which Tokyo reported had been captured.

Southeast Asia headquarters announced the Japanese had been driven from another village on the Arakan front of Southwest Burma.

Ship Workers Vote

BATH, Me., Oct. 9 (AP)—Approximately 11,000 workers at the Bath Iron Works Corp. are balloting today and tomorrow in a referendum vote to determine a bonus payment method.

Reds Closing in On Budapest

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The German high command said today the Russians had forced a crossing of the Tisza river, last natural barrier to Budapest, in southern Hungary.

The Russians were "being held in bridgehead positions," the command said.

In northern Hungary, where the Russians had crossed the Koros river, another obstacle to the advance on the Hungarian capital, the Russians were said to have reached "the area of Debrecen," 135 miles east of Budapest.

The Russians, according to Moscow communiques, were within 72 miles of Budapest farther south.

Nazi Troops Flee Athens

ROME, Oct. 9 (AP)—German forces were reported preparing to evacuate Athens today as British troops, racing virtually unopposed across the Peloponnese, neared the southern entrance to the isthmus of Corinth, gateway to northern Greece.

Fall of Corinth would seal off the only overland escape route for any German troops remaining in the Peloponnese and would place the Allies only 45 miles from Athens.

WESTERN FRONT—American First Army forces today are reported fighting in the streets of Aachen, while other columns have closed the escape gap to the east as less than a four mile wide corridor, sweeping from Aisard and Alden in the north and to the Haaren area from the south.

What Goes On Inside Reich?

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 9 (AP)—Telephone communications between Stockholm and Berlin still were broken off today, more than 48 hours after they first were cut. Telegraph communication with Berlin continued, but Swedish correspondents there apparently were unable to use it as an outlet. A Berlin plane arrived with only four passengers, three of them legion employees.

No confirmation could be found for a rumor printed in the Stockholm Tidningen of a new officers' revolt in Germany. The newspaper based its story on a report that an SS police general had been named commander of Warsaw's new units of the German army.

In London "reliable sources" said that SS Obergruppenfuhrer Gen. Von Dem Bache has been appointed by Heinrich Himmler as supreme commander of Germany's post-war underground resistance forces.

Von Dem Bache, while stationed in Poland, boasted he personally enjoyed mass executions and had taken a direct hand in some of them with a submachinegun. Although little known outside Germany, he has been a high-ranking Nazi for years.

Yanks 2 Miles Nearer Bologna

ROME, Oct. 9 (AP)—American troops have advanced nearly two miles more along the main road north to Bologna, bringing them within 10 miles of that major communications center of the Po valley. Allied headquarters announced today.

Hunt Ex-Convicts In Farina Shooting

Farina was in critical condition at Weymouth Hospital today, with doctors administering plasma in an effort to bolster him for the removal of at least two of three bullets that were pumped into his body.

In spite of their fears, the boastful Roxbury racketeer, who served a State Prison sentence at the same time as the men he accuses, told doctors: "Don't worry, I'll live."

Farina was shot in an automobile near the Weymouth-Braintree line and tossed out to die after being lured by his attackers on pretense they wanted him to go to a big dice game in Brockton.

Wounded in the head, stomach and left side, the victim walked nearly a mile until he found Patrolman Norman Sharon, Braintree police officer, who rushed him to the hospital.

There, Chief John Heaney of Braintree told him he had no chance to live and asked if he wanted to make a statement.

Contrary to the code that gangsters never talk, Farina said he had been taken for a ride because he demanded a larger cut from the proceeds of the $6800 payroll pickup at the S. S. Pierce Brookline ave. store.

"My car was used in that robbery, but I wasn't in on it," Farina told Chief Heaney. "The cops got the number of the machine and then began looking for me.

"I told the two fellows that used my car to pull the job I needed money and I got $600 at first and another $1000 later. But it wasn't enough to pay a lawyer and I told them I wanted $2000 more.

"They hesitated, but then they called me and picked me up in Boston. They were afraid I would tell the cops what I knew. One of them fired two shots at me when we got to Braintree. I grabbed his gun and the other fellow shot me once and pounded me over the head with a beer bottle. Then they tossed me out and beat it."

One of the men sought for questioning has a criminal record dating back to 1916. He is on parole until 1935, and served eight years of a 12-20-year sentence for armed robbery in 1935.

The other was released from State Prison last spring after serving a seven-year sentence for armed robbery in connection with a $125,000 jewel robbery.

Girl Silent On Flier's Bequest

Janeth Beyer, beautiful Miami University student remembered in the will of a hero RAF flier, today was found by the Boston Evening American but refused all comment on their friendship.

"I know that Griffith was killed in action while laying mines," she said. "I did not know that his mother was searching for me. I will write her at once.

"All I care to say is that I met Griffith Arthur Lloyd while I was at Miami University. I have been informed of his death. That's all I will say for publication."

Janeth was discovered at the Somerset rd., Newton, home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Tower by an American reporter after the flier's mother, Mrs. Ella C. Lloyd, wrote from England to William Hester, Miami University secretary, for the young woman's address. The latter told reporters he had no records on Miss Beyer available. Mrs. Lloyd had written:

"In 1941 my son, Griffith, came to the university to train as a navigator for the RAF and met Janeth Beyer.

"He now has been lost while mine laying and in his will wished to remember her. I can not contact her and wonder if you could trace her."

While refusing to comment on why the young navigator wanted to remember her in his will, Janeth said she would write to Hester at once and learn Mrs. Lloyd's address and then communicate with her.

Know There's a War On?

First Letters Reveal Insults to Gold Stars

A flood of letters poured into the Boston American today from indignant readers who expressed their disgust with the constant repetition of the sarcastic and no-longer humorous query: "Don't you know there's a war on?"

"Many of the letters were excellent, but many writers disqualified themselves automatically from the cash awards of $3 for each letter published and a chance at the $50 War Bond for the best letter of all by failing to observe the rules laid down by the I-Know-There's-a-War-On Editor of the Boston American.

Remember again, letters should not exceed 100 words in length and list the writer's reasons for knowing why there is a war going on.

Writers also should include their full names and addresses, even though initials only will be used when the letters are published.

Following are five letters already received, in which the writers have observed the rules:

"I am a veteran of the WAC," writes M. H., of Charlestown, "and my husband, brother, son-in-law and two nephews are in the service. I was asked THAT question while in uniform by a salesgirl while trying to buy a card of snaps for my utility coat. I didn't get the snaps but I did get insulted."

"I tried to buy a carton of cigarettes to send to a relative in the Navy," says A. R., of South Boston, "and was told: 'Don't be silly, don't you know there's a war on?' That night I received word he had been killed in action. Yes, I know there's a war on."

"Yes, I know," says Mrs. M. B., of Malden, "being the mother of a son in service who was my only support. I salvage hats, tin, paper and give my blood and I resent being asked THAT question when I ask for hard-to-get items at the market or request an extra spoonful of sugar in a restaurant."

"I have a son who is in the service, leaving behind his wife and two children," writes A. S. H., of Boston, "and it takes all my will power to keep from punching fresh clerks in the nose when they ask that question."

"Do you know there's a war on?" says Mrs. A. C. R., of Somerville. "I was asked this when I tried to buy canned goods for my boys overseas. One son was badly wounded on D-Day and another has received the Bronze Star. My third is on the way overseas, a fourth reports for duty in a few days and my last boy is joining the maritime service. Yes, I know there's a war on."

Sit down today and tell in your own words why YOU know there is a war going on and any such experience YOU might have had. Address your letters to the I-Know-There's-a-War-On Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass.

Lana's Hairdo Strictly GI For Film on Life of WAC

By ROBBIN COONS

AP Newfeature Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—Lana Turner's long golden hair was done up today in a fashion both conceded that some of the suggested hairdos were both beautiful and glamorous.

"But hardly," she said, "the type of coiffure a girl could put up herself between reveille at 6 a. m. and breakfast at 6:30, with a shower, dressing, and her share of the housekeeping to be done besides."

The solution: Lana's hair (though it is put up by a hairdresser) is done in braids and "rolls" of a type a girl conceivably could manage unaided. It's G. I. too, because it's off the collar.

Lana, Laraine Day and Susan Peters are principals in this movie of WAC life and training, and Lt. White is sure they'll be a help in the WAC's recruiting drive for 12,000 enlistments by war's end.

Lost prospective WACs get the notion that glamor in uniform is a studio-fostered, the lieutenant emphasizes that the stars' uniforms are strictly G. I., lent by the Army and altered—as any WAC may have done—to fit each girl.

New Packard Plant Walkout

DETROIT, Oct. 9 (AP)—Striking maintenance workers of the Packard Motor Car Co. returned to their jobs briefly this morning, as they voted to do in a mass meeting Sunday, but walked out again shortly afterward.

A company spokesman said the stoppage made 20,000 idle. Approximately 1000 maintenance workers are involved in the strike.

The Packard men's grievance involved differences in wages of CIO and AFL workers. The War Labor Board directed its automotive council here to study the matter.

The New York governor, returning from West Virginia, where he spoke Saturday night, proclaimed tomorrow as Free China Day after demanding more public information about Poland's postwar future.

Published reports that Dewey would like to retain Secretary of State Hull in at least an advisory capacity on international affairs if elected this November brought no confirmation from the Republican nominee or his campaign managers. They termed it "purely speculative."

John Foster Dulles has been mentioned most frequently as Dewey's choice for Secretary of State in event of a Republican victory.

Although he professedly was kept advised of Hull's postwar planning talks at Dumbarton Oaks through Dulles, a Dewey-appointed and Hull-accepted intermediary, the candidate yesterday remarked:

"We would like to know more about the results of the private deliberations of those who now discuss Poland's future in secrecy."

This was in a brief broadcast saluting Poland's hero of the American Revolution, Gen. Casimir Pulaski, during a Polish-American parade on New York's Fifth Ave.

Dewey turned quickly from Poland to China with this proclamation:

"We in this country, for the last three years comrades in arms with the people of China, have sent military aid, however inadequate, to our allies across the Pacific. . . nevertheless, today China finds herself in a more desperate condition than at any time since the beginning of the Japanese invasion."

"It is our obligation to our Chinese ally, to the speediest possible defeat of Japan and to a strong and lasting peace after victory, to speed an ever greater degree of aid to China as soon as possible."

Dewey had previously proclaimed today Left Erikson Day as tribute to Norway.

Indicating that a grand finale for the Dewey campaign now is being worked out, the GOP nominee was surrounded by a full complement of strategists as he traveled from New York city to Albany last night.

They included Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican national chairman who announced that Dewey's Charleston, W. Va., speech would be rebroadcast over the Blue Network at 12:30 p. m. today; J. Russel Sprague, national committeeman from New York; and Edwin F. Jaekle, state committee chairman.

Dewey's assistants said he would return to New York city late Wednesday or early Thursday to review the Columbus Day parade.

Maj. Madden Home, Praises War Wives

Home today after 2½ years overseas, Maj. Edward C. (Ted) Madden, former Boston College football star, said the wives who patiently wait for their husband's return are just as much soldiers as the men in the fighting forces.

"The women have one of the toughest assignments in the war," Madden declared. "They must be father as well as mother to the children, and hide their own anxiety while assuring the youngsters their daddy is alive and well."

Madden called the American soldiers "the greatest and most effective good-will ambassadors this country ever had." He said the men were being welcomed in every country "except, of course, Germany."

He praised Maj. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle as very conscientious and said the men loved him. He served as a second lieutenant with Doolittle during 18 months of World War I.

Secret Detector Warns of Robot

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Patrols of fast Mosquito planes are now equipped with secret detecting devices in their night war against German flying bombs and Heinkel aircraft which the Nazis are using to launch the robots.

Extremely intense ack ack defenses during two attacks last night filled the sky with such a load of exploding steel hundreds of families in east coast towns sought safety in shelters from the rain of falling fragments.

MAJ. EDWARD C. MADDEN AND HIS SON, DANIEL, 9, Home From War; Father Wins World War II Medal

Very Full Skirts Feature Show by Bruyere in Paris

By LORELLE HEARST

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT, Boston Evening American
PARIS, Oct. 9.—There are so many couturier openings every day now that it is physically impossible to cover them all.

Consequently, I will try to pick out the ones best known to American women plus those which I am told are the chic new ones.

When Bruyere showed her collection, I met her in her salon on the Place Vendôme just across the square from the Ritz Hotel where I am staying.

It is difficult for me to judge her age, for she has snow white hair, but her face is very young with a lovely skin and a sweet smile. She is of average height, dressed in a pale beige wool dress-maker suit in elegant taste.

She opened with a tea gown done in red, white and blue. I ward a wool suit season.

If the skirt was not circular, it had fullness someplace, either over each hip or over each leg in front. In that case, the skirt would have a straight panel in the front and back.

Sleeves were extremely full like shirtwaist sleeves, with tight wristbands.

Black velvet was done in the famous shirtwaist dress we American women love for sport wear, with small brilliants around the neck belts.

Evening clothes were few but by far not least.

However, I had quite a surprise!

They were all like tea gowns, but beautiful and graceful along Grecian lines.

If you wear them, you will be completely covered up, but covered with such beauty as you have never before seen.

They are all in heavenly pastel colors and embroidered so simply with the essence of taste.

There is one I cannot get out of my mind. I want it so badly.

It is an ice green crepe flowing dress with high neck, full over the breast, long full sleeves with a silver embroidery sleeves belt.

There is a lovely salmon pink wool coat over it.

The coat had gold embroidery in narrow bands down the front all over the full sleeves and belt. It was very long waisted in the back and gave the girl who wore it the most graceful walk I have ever seen.

I forgot to mention that a great deal of quilting is used for coats. She would quilt the entire coat, and the wonderful thing about this was that it still kept one thin looking.

The collection finished with the most beautiful bride I have ever seen.

White satin quilted from shoulder to floor, she carried a darling little barrel muff of white satin, also quilted, with orange blossoms on the edge where the bride puts her hands.

2 Boys Nabbed In Sluggings

Two youths, 20 and 17, were arrested today after two side street sluggings in Cambridge which necessitated hospital treatment in the case of each victim, one of whom was robbed.

John J. Long, 47, Walden st., was found semi-conscious at Broadway and Elm st., after two attackers slugged him at Hampshire and Union sts., stripping him of his watch, chain, knife and a wallet containing $35. Police took him to Cambridge City Hospital.

At about the same time, police in a patrol car, came upon Patrick Canavan, 41, of Harvard st., stumbling dazedly at Norfolk and Harvard sts. He said he had been attacked by two youths, who tried to rob him, then fled.

The policemen took Canavan along Norfolk st. Suddenly Canavan pointed out two men, shouting: "That's the pair!"

Patrolman John White leaped from the car and collared one of them. The other fled.

As a result of questioning the youth in custody, police went to an Elm st. address and arrested the other, then went to a back yard in Union st. and recovered Long's wallet, the $35 and his hat.

Soldier Death Voids His Vote

Bay State servicemen and women who die after sending home absentee ballots will be crossed off the voting list and their ballots will not be counted, Secretary of State Cook announced today.

Cook said he was basing the policy on advice he had sought and had been given by Atty. Gen. Bushnell.

All city and town officials in Massachusetts whose jurisdiction extends to the polls will be notified not to count absentee ballots of men and women who died subsequent to mailing them home for the November election, Cook stated.

He said he would obtain official lists of the dead from the federal government and relay them to officials of cities and towns where the ballots of the dead had been sent.

In view of the fact that the government may not have time to announce the names of those who die in action or otherwise, in the days immediately preceding the election, some question was raised as to inequity. Unless a soldier has been officially reported dead by the time the polls open Nov. 7, his ballot will be counted, although in fact he may have lost his life days before election.

Cook said the state could be guided only by such official lists as the government provided it.

Several other states which have considered the problem have ruled that an absentee ballot shall be counted, even though the sender shall have died after mailing it home.

Court Tells Panel Jury War Work

Federal Judge George C. Sweeney wants it understood administration of justice is war work, too.

That's what he told a new panel of 50 jurors today when half of them asked to be excused.

"There seems to be an impression," he said, "that because you are engaged in war work your employers think you should be excused. I want to say we are engaged in war work here and we need your services."

So the impaneling of the jurors went on to try 35 cases on the court calendar, including the first batch of 10 defendants in the Hingham shipyard $300,000 payroll frauds.

Chaplains' Chairman Seeks Lost Articles

Rev. Dr. William B. Pugh, chairman-general of the commission of Army and Navy chaplains, and clerk of the Presbyterian Church, today reported the loss of personal valuables. He requested the finder to telephone him at LA-Soll 4335.

The missing articles include his wife's watch and chain, a St. Christopher Medal and Jewish keepsake, presents from chaplains, and a Celtic cross on a chain. He said he lost the valuables between the Statler Hotel and the Cambridge Theological School.

In the Bag

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Betty Wells 50, noticed a light in her clothes closet, and tried to pull the door open, but somebody inside was holding it. Says she:

"I finally got the door open and there stood a short, chubby man. He had my clothes in a travelling bag. I grabbed him and he struck me on the chin. I grabbed him and he scratched his face and he hit me again. The third time I ripped all the buttons off his shirt and scratched his face and chest, breaking my fingernails. He pushed me aside and ran out the door, but I saved my clothing."

Install Judge In Charlestown

In the presence of his mother and two sisters and a large group of friends, Judge John F. Gilmore was installed today as presiding justice of Charlestown Municipal Court to succeed the late Judge Charles S. Sullivan.

The Rev. Frederic J. Allechin, pastor of St. Mary's Church, gave the invocation, after which Judge Gilmore's commission was read by Clerk James J. Mullen. The brief ceremonies ended with benediction by the Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor of the First Church in Charlestown.

Judge Gilmore was named special justice last March.

Rector Flies to Sailor's Wedding

Because a Malden sailor wanted his home town minister to perform his marriage ceremony, Rev. George C. S. McCay, rector of St. Luke's Church there, today left Logan Airport by plane for San Francisco.

The sailor, Quartermaster 1c Ronald Olsson, 25, is at the Treasure Island naval station awaiting his bride-to-be after two years' service in the Pacific battle area. She is Dorothy Hoffman, 22, of West Hempstead, L. I. They met at a USO center in New York.

Going first to New York, Rev. McCay will meet Miss Hoffman there and they will continue to the West Coast together. Olsson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Olsson of Fenwick st., Malden, was a member of Rev. McCay's church before his enlistment.

Mail Christmas Packages In November, Connelly Plea

"November is the Christmas
Mail Month for 1944."

This was the slogan of Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly today as he warned that the public must be sure to mail its parcels, letters and greeting cards, both military and civilian, early enough to guarantee delivery throughout the United States in time for Christmas.

There can be no last-minute deluge of mail as was customary in peacetime years if the senders have any hope of getting their Christmas packages and cards delivered in time, Connelly said.
Wartime handicaps make it physically impossible to handle such a rush of holiday mail and the wise citizen will get his Christmas parcels and cards in the mail early.

Substitutes trained to distribute mail also are not as readily available. Five hundred such workers of last year in the Boston postal district now are in the armed forces. Untrained schoolboys must replace them.

Postmaster Connelly, after conferences with railway mail officials, has set closing dates which are definitely final for assured delivery of Christmas parcels and mail from this area to various sections of the United States.

Packages from here to the West Coast states must be in the mail no later than Nov. 22, while cards and letters must be mailed by
Nov. 29.

Nov. 24 is the deadline for mailing of packages to the Rocky Mountain, Southwestern, Middle
Western and far Southern states, while cards and letters to these points must be sent by Dec. 1.

Parcels mailed to the Middle Atlantic states, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan should leave no later than Nov. 25, and Dec. 2 is deadline for cards and letters these areas.

Packages to New England ports should be mailed Dec. 6 and cardinal letters by Dec. 13.

Willkie Funeral In N. Y. Tuesday

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (INS)—The entire nation, as well as public figures throughout the world, mourned today as funeral arrangements were made for Wendell L. Willkie, the dynamic presidential candidate who held international headlines despite defeat.

Thousands of cables and telegrams of sympathy poured in on Mrs. Willkie, herself ill, at her Fifth ave. apartment as soon as the death of the 52-year-old Republican liberal became known. In response to public request, Willkie's body will lie in state at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church from 2 p. m. today and his many friends will be admitted until midnight.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow, with Rev. John Sutherland Bonnell, a family friend, officiating. Burial will be in a family plot at Rushville, Ind., Willkie's home town.

Efforts are being made to reach Willkie's son, Lt. jglt. Philip Willkie, USNR, on convoy duty in the Atlantic, and bring him home for the burial.

Mme. Chiang Pays Tribute to Willkie

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek said last night that Wendell L. Willkie's "unswerving moral courage and foresight will be sorely missed not only in his native land and China but by the whole world."

In a telegram sent for her to Mrs. Willkie, Dr. L. K. Kung said: "Madame wishes me to express to you the condolences of the Generalissimo and herself in bereavement. The death of Mr. Willkie is not only a loss to you personally but also to his many friends."

Nazis Left Greece a Land Of Ruin, Disease and Death

By LARRY NEWMAN

PATRAS, Greece, Oct. 7 (Delayed) (INS)—Greece today is a country of old people, looted and burned villages, impoverished soil and wrecked economy.

Death rate among Greek peasant children has been appalling. Children still surviving are tragic, emaciated little waifs, with matchstick legs, scrawny arms and patchwork clothes. They have lived mostly on grapes, tomatoes and berries since the German occupation and their teeth are black from lack of calcium, while the rate of tuberculosis and malaria is extremely high.

A doctor at a makeshift hospital at the town of Lekhania, told me that "only the gods know how many children have died."

All who contracted serious illness were doomed, he said, because there was no medicine.

The doctor told of lack of insulin for diabetics and anesthetics for operations and dressings. Wounded patriots brought to the hospital, he said, lived through terrible agonies while undergoing surgery to remove German bullets, only to die from infection and pneumonia.

The tragedy of the death of the good earth is almost as heart-breaking. Peasants returned to their homes found all farm implements gone, horses and oxen slaughtered, and the land overrun with weeds.

I saw old women tilling the soil with sticks and even their bare hands, attempting to grow a few vegetables and potatoes.

As you ride along the beautiful Ionian coast new tragedy of burned, looted and deserted villages brings complete realization of the Nazi reign of terror.

WACs to Carol in Jerusalem

By ALICE BISSELL

The voices of American girls—Army girls whose faith in freedom led them overseas—will rise in Jerusalem over the Holy Land this Christmas eve.

For the first time in the history of the world, "O Come, All Ye Faithful" will be sung there by a choir of WACs chosen from the three companies now stationed in Africa.

This inspiring announcement, bringing the meaning of Christmas from our fighting men and women overseas, was given to us today by Maj. Josephine T. Dyer, WAC staff director of the Near East.

On a mission in Boston before she returns to her duties in Africa, Maj. Dyer, 30, of New York city, said the WACs in her theater of war, remembering their holidays in the States last year, are hoping for furloughs so they can go with the choir to Jerusalem. "That's where they want to be if they can't be home. By plane and train and Army jeeps they are planning to take this pilgrimage, so full of meaning, as another year of war and hopes of peace fill our hearts again."

The stunning WAC leader, formerly commanding officer of the WAC detachment at Camp Edwards, referring to our girls overseas, added:

Color Brilliance With Suave Black

Soldiers Will Return To Camps, Not Hotels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (INS)—The War Department, announcing a new redistribution program for soldiers returning from combat areas, said existing Army camps rather than additional hotels will be used to house the veterans. The expansion, it was explained, is necessitated by a growing volume of soldiers sent back home by the Army's air, ground and service forces.

Bricker Terms Deal Patchwork

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 9 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker, describing the present executive branch of the federal government as a patchwork of disorder and confusion, asserted today that an unscrambling was essential in the postwar era.

The Republican candidate for Vice-President added that in any reorganization "there should be maintained a clear separation of legislative and executive functions."

The Ohio Governor, who devoted Sunday to non-political chats with residents of North Dakota while his staff gingerly tried to avoid involvement in that state's Republican intra-party fight, scheduled four speeches today in a bid for Montana's four electoral votes.

His special train moved from Bozeman and was to continue on to Helena and Great Falls.

In a prepared speech for the Butte audience, released by his campaign staff, Bricker said that despite power given to President Roosevelt to reorganize departments, "Congress has had to take into its own hands the abolition of useless agencies."

He said "the present administration strives for absolute centralization of controls in Washington," but that this policy is detrimental to efficiency. More authority, he suggested, must be delegated to local agencies.

Victim of government red tape. Mrs. Doris B. Streck of Walnut st., Malden, whose two-year-old son has never seen his father, a wounded veteran of 33 months overseas, today had an offer of free room and board until her allotment payment difficulties are straightened out.

The young Malden mother revealed she was left without funds when the Office of Dependency Benefits halted payments on grounds she owed $148 for alleged overpayment in allotments.

The offer of board for Mrs. Streck and her child came from Mrs. Mary Steele of Braeburn rd., Hyde Park, war working wife of a Coast Guard officer.

Leukemia Girl Dies After 3-Week Fight

After a hopeless battle of more than three weeks against leukemia, Marjory L. Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthey Lucas, died at the home of her parents in Berkeley st., Melrose.

The little girl was stricken about a month ago with symptoms similar to those of a common cold. When her case was finally diagnosed as acute leukemia, Marjory was removed to Melrose

Hospital, where she remained nine days.

Her parents made a vain effort to obtain a blood transfusion for her from someone who had recovered from the disease. When it was impossible to obtain the required type of blood, doctors despaired of saving the girl and she was taken home.

Marjory was a pupil at the Winthrop School in Melrose. In addition to her parents, she is survived by a 12-year-old brother.

Funeral services will be held from her parents' home tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., with burial in Wyoming Cemetery, Melrose.

Tattooed Wife Listed Missing

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (INS)—William Moore, seeking police aid today in the search for his wife, Josephine, 33, mother of two children, listed as identification marks on his wife's body the following tattooed decorations:

A replica of the Rock of Ages, the legends "Good Luck Forever," "Rose of No Man's Land" and numerous clever bon mots, two American flags, two three-inch rose "garters" and a snake chasing a butterfly.

Moore said his wife failed to return after leaving their home ostensibly to visit friends.

WHY QUINTUPLETS use this great rub for SORE THROAT COUGHS & COLDS

Wonderful for Croup-Ups, Too!

Ever since they were tiny tots—when the Quintuplets caught cold—their chests, throats and backs are immediately rubbed with Musterole.

Musterole gives such blessed prompt relief because it's more than just an ordinary "salve." It's what so many Doctors and Nurses call a modern counter-irritant. It not only relieves coughs, sore throat, aching chest muscles due to colds, makes breathing easier—but it actually helps break up congestion in upper bronchial tract, nose and throat.

And Musterole is so much easier to apply than a mustard plaster. White, Stainless. Just rub it on! "No fuss. No muss with Musterole!"

Savant Rescued By Coast Guard

Relatives of Dr. Herman Arendtz, former Harvard professor, of Woodworth st., Dorchester, today awaited details of his rescue by Coast Guardsmen after he had been missing three days in a crippled cabin cruiser in Long Island sound.

His daughter, Mrs. Winifred Landry of Francis st., Everett, was notified he had been picked up off Westbrook, Ct.

Last Friday, Coast Guards had taken Mrs. Landry and her 3-year-old daughter, Susan May, from the professor's battered and leaking craft off Saybrook, Ct. When the rescuers went back for Dr. Arendtz, the boat had been swept into the sound in a heavy storm.

Chin-Whiskered Musical Fish Eats Standing on Head

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A big chin-whiskered fish which eats standing on its head with its tail out of the water was complemented in a new government publication.

The black drum fish, said Miss Rachel L. Carson, aquatic biologist in the Office of the Coordinator of Fisheries, is "probably the best musician of all the large family of drums or croakers to which it belongs."

This salt water tympanist and a couple of dozen other important Southern food fish and crustaceans are described by Miss Carson in a 45-page pamphlet entitled "Fish and Shellfish of the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts."

"People who have always supposed fish to be silent creatures are surprised to learn that many of them have voices so loud that they can be heard a considerable distance above the water," she observed.

"These vocal effects, in the case of drums, are produced by the vibration of special band-like muscles against the taut air bladder."

Indians of the Pascagoula Bay region of the Gulf Coast left legends of sweet, plaintive music issuing mysteriously from the water on summer evenings. Just schools of drum having a little jam session, Miss Carson contends.

Q—My husband has just passed his 39th birthday and has been in the service since April, 1942. Will he be discharged after Germany falls or will he be sent overseas with occupation troops? I have two children and find it hard to get along. Will you help any?

F. D. Lynn.

A—The Army has made no official announcement what steps they will take toward demobilization following victory in Europe. Several plans have been proposed and discussed. Therefore I am unable to answer your question.

Q—I was drafted into the Army, and after 8½ months of active duty I received a discharge because of medical reasons. Am I entitled to mustering-out pay?

M. K. Boston.

A—Under the circumstances stated you can apply for mustering-out pay. Apply Army Finance Officer, 50 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

Q—I was overseas for 11 months and returned to the States where I was given an honorable discharge which reads "C. D. D. Per. Sec. II, A. R. 615-360." Will you explain meaning?

J. K. Salem.

A—Discharged because of a physical disability which meant that you were unable to continue active military duty or labor. The C. D. D. means Certified Disability Discharge.

Q—If a soldier is supposed to be deceased (killed in action) why does the mother still receive the allotment and insurance checks after six months? Can someone else receive pay checks besides the soldier?

A. B. Boston.

A—Apparently you are interested in somebody else's affair. However, the government, besides paying off soldier's insurance, also allows six months' gratuity pay (soldier's pay for that period) to the next of kin. If mother solely dependent of deceased soldier, she may also receive allotment.

Q—I am a disabled soldier and able to do a few odd jobs that can be accomplished by being seated. Is there any place that I might go to see what jobs are available for a person in my condition?

J. L., Cambridge.

A—Yes. Several organizations handle such requests—state departments of American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans, also Department of Military Aid and Pensions, all in State House. Commr. Rep or Deputy Commr. Richard Cunningham of the latter department, will assist you.

Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.

Bradford Hopes Hillman Will Meet Him in Debate

Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, said today he was still hopeful that Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO-Political Action Committee, would reconsider his withdrawal and agree to meet him in a scheduled debate in New York on Oct. 18.

Hillman has been announced as speaker to "represent the Democratic side" in a presidential election debate with Bradford on the closing program of the New York Herald-Tribune forum.

The CIO-Political Action Committee had withdrawn as a speaker, however, almost simultaneously with protests voiced by Robert F. Hannegan, Democratic National Committee chairman, over choice of Hillman to represent the Democratic viewpoint.

Since Hillman's withdrawal, Bradford said he had contacted the forum sponsors and said they had expressed hope that Hillman would reconsider.

"I would be glad to discuss the issues of the national campaign with him," Bradford said. "The Democratic National Committee appeared to welcome Mr. Hillman's assistance at their national convention. I should be sorry to think it did not want him to present his convictions in favor of Mr. Roosevelt before the forum."

Hannegan said had he been asked to furnish a speaker he would have suggested someone "from the Democratic party, not a representative from the American Labor Party."

In withdrawing, Hillman said he would be glad to speak, not as a representative of the Democrats, but as chairman of the Political Action Committee.

SQUARING IT WITH SIDNEY

MR. ROOSEVELT succeeded in talking "out of both sides of his mouth" quite adroitly in his radio broadcast from the White House to Democratic party workers.

Talking to the Democrats, Mr. Roosevelt set up for the record a declaration of not "welcoming" Communist support—which of course he possesses specifically, authoritatively and completely.

His support is absolutely "OFFICIAL" and PUBLICLY declared.

It was proclaimed on Thursday, September 23, 1941, by Earl Browder, former general secretary of the Communist Party, former member of the Comintern at Moscow, and now president of the Communist Political Association, which is the Communist Party's new guise.

Addressing a Red mass meeting at Madison Square Garden, Browder declared unqualifiedly for Mr. Roosevelt and a fourth term; and, in order that there might be no mistake, Browder said:

"I am SPOKESMAN for America's ORGANIZED COMMUNISTS.

"I am AUTHORIZED to speak FOR NO ONE ELSE."

Unquestionably this official support and the aggressive activity of organized Communism in behalf of Mr. Roosevelt has become very offensive to the real Democratic Party.

Consequently, speaking out of the RIGHT SIDE of his mouth, Mr. Roosevelt says:

"I have never SOUGHT and I do not WELCOME the support of any person or group committed to Communism, or Fascism, or any other foreign ideology which would undermine the American system of government or the American system of free competitive enterprise and private property."

That utterance from the right side of Mr. Roosevelt's mouth was calculated to APPEASE the Democrats.

AT THE SAME TIME, the language was carefully chosen not to AFFRONT the Communists.

And instead of REPUDIATING and DISCOURAGING Communism, he denounced the ENEMIES of Communism in America.

Out of the LEFT SIDE of his mouth Mr. Roosevelt said with heat and violence:

"It is a source of regret to all decent Americans that some political propagandists are now dragging red herrings across the trail of this national election."

"For example, labor baiters, bigots and some politicians use the term 'Communism' loosely, and apply it to every progressive social measure and to the view of every foreign-born citizen with whom they disagree."

Still speaking out of the LEFT SIDE of his mouth, Mr. Roosevelt further attacked a group of Congressmen for distributing, in quite the customary manner, an anti-Communist speech which had been made IN CONGRESS.

He called them "rabble rousers" and "fomenters of class hatred," who are seeking to "destroy democracy" by spreading "fear propaganda."

As a matter of plain fact Mr. Roosevelt's phrases are strictly COMMUNIST "party line" propaganda.

All that he omitted was to call his political opponents "Red baiters."

Indeed his broadcast to the Democratic Party workers serves mainly to even things off in his fourth-term campaign.

EARL BROWDER and SIDNEY HILLMAN have both made speeches for MR. ROOSEVELT.

Now MR. ROOSEVELT has made a speech FOR THEM—AND COUCHED IT IN THEIR OWN LANGUAGE.

—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

BOVE quoted by the insistent request of a Boston subscriber. The demand for Mrs. Brown's is terrific at this time. I think there should be a new film version of the "Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Who would you suggest for the part, the part, the part?

Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett this time? I like Brian Aherne for Browning, but can't decide on the Miss Barrett part.

You can't help loving the Irish. Well, I can't anyhow. Their particular kind of gayety and sense of humor just suit me. In the elegant hostility in which we are temporarily domiciled there is an Irish elevator man. He has been in this country 33 years but that hasn't smoothed out his brogue. He is a great admirer of our dog, Timothy, and every morning he greets

the pup something like this: "Good morning to you Timmy, thou, me bye. You're a fine dog. It's excellent manners you have. It's a perfect gentleman you are." During this conversation the pup wags his tail furiously. I guess he loves the Irish, too.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Haven't been getting good shaves lately. I am going to switch to a straight razor tomorrow and see if I can do bet- ter, though I probably won't.

"Men of what nation make the greatest women?" asks a

New Yorker. I think the Nor- wegians are probably the best.

Still the Americans have always been great scound-rels. Specially the New Eng- landers. . . At first the bars for men only didn't get much of a play. But now they are always packed. Many men are getting weary of bars all cluttered up with dizzy and predatory fe- males. Besides, even those men who are the most enthusiastic admirers of women like to get away from the female sex once in awhile.

DANGEROUS PLACE: Safety first experts say the most dangerous place in the home is the kitchen. That is where the most home accidents occur.

Why is it that though many housewives are victims of kitchen accidents you rarely hear of a restaurant or hotel chef being injured at work. Perhaps the housewives are too careless and dream too much while in the kitchen. Maybe the male inven- tors of household appliances, who have done so much to make housework easier should go to work on some safety devices to make home kitchens foolproof.

SIDE LIGHTS: Writes Sgt. Daniel Carey from the Southwest Pacific: "My home is in San Francisco. I would like to nominate my mother and sister for the My-Name-Is-a-Poem

Club. They are both named Mary Carey. I look on my mom and my sis as God's greatest gift to me. They're both wonderful!"

"A ham and cheese sandwich on rye, and no lettuce," I said to the lunch counter attendant. He said: "Fuddy, you're making a mistake in not taking lettuce. It contains vitamins B, B6 and C." . . . Am asked about when the song "Along Came Ruth" was popular. I think it was around 1923 or am I stuck for another stogie?

WHY? THESE men have to be qualified electricians before they can be hired. Yet, after "payment is completed" the worker must take a test at the hands of a private organization consisting of a few local men holding authority conferred by another private organization, the American Federation of Labor. But, if he flunks he will continue to work as an electrician, anyway.

Then why make him take the test? However, does anyone think the union examiners will flunk any of these men and give up the $50 per head? That isn't the way these unions ordinarily function under Mr. Roosevelt's regime in this war.

THIS IS a temporary, emergency job, due to last 90 days. When it is done, the men who have paid the fee will draft away and that money will remain in the local treasury.

If there are 1000 temporary workers and 50 permanent local members, that means the permanent local membership may solemnly declare a dividend of $1000 each. No law forbids them to do that.

Or the executive board of the local, consisting of three or four men, may award it to themselves "in appreciation of their valuable services." This is common practice.

THIS SITUATION has prevailed in most of the great war construction jobs. In one place a little local union bestrode the road to an enormous Army camp and collected money from 3000 carpenters drawn in from other regions, who dispersed and vanished when the job was done.

Many went on to other construction jobs and, again and again, had to pay $50 and up for the privilege of working on national defense.

On some of the big projects a system prevailed whereby racketeers had various men fired soon as their money had been paid, so that women could be hired.

This happened right outside Washington at the Navy, whose job it was, and the Labor Relations and War Labor Boards and the FBI saw all about it and so did Mr. Roosevelt.

DO THESE VICTIMS "bargain collectively" through agents of their own free choice, as they promised the right to do by the Wagner Act? The appeal of the U. S. Employment Service in the present case plainly says the bargain already has been made, arbitrarily.

This is a War Department job and the Government set the wage scales. And the men are not asked to select a bargaining agent.

OH WELL, but if a man doesn't want to do he can work elsewhere. Do you really think so? Mr. Roosevelt has us trapped there, too.

For, in many cities nowadays, by order of a government "directive" the newspapers are required to print a notice in their "Help Wanted" columns warning American labor that "all calls over 16 may be hired only upon referral by arrangement with the U.S.S.S." And the U.S.S. will often refuse a man a "referral" if he declines to take a job in a plant where the ruling union has the fee imposition privilege.

Does anyone think Mr. Roosevelt, given four more years, would abolish these "controls" over the work and life and freedom of American "labor" as he calls the American people?

He has never yet given up a single "control" once it has been established.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—I have said before that President Roosevelt is the worst enemy of American labor in all our history, more ruthless than the Rockefeller of old and more dangerous to the personal freedom and human dignity of people than any combination of employers at any stage of the Republic.

Ruthless?

Read this excerpt from an emergency appeal for electricians to work on a vital, secret war construction job near Knoxville, Tenn.

And yet, in this almost hysterical appeal for electricians, issued on behalf of the Army, this paragraph appeared:

"Union requirements: Men must apply for membership in Local AFL Electrical Union. Initiation fee of $50 is paid $1 down and $1 a day. When payment is completed, men then take union examination for electrician. If he fails test initiation fee will be returned, but he will continue to work."

WHY? THESE men have to be qualified electricians before they can be hired.

Yet, after "payment is completed" the worker must take a test at the hands of a private organization consisting of a few local men holding authority conferred by another private organization, the American Federation of Labor. But, if he flunks he will continue to work as an electrician, anyway.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9—The news was hardly out that "Jubal Troop" had been postponed than Claudette Colbert was knee deep in scripts. The story that caught her attention, and the one she has accepted is "Guest Wife," which she will do for Bruce Manning and Jack Skirball.

But hold everything -- that isn't all! Don Ameche, one of the real "right" guys of our town, co-stars with Claudette. This means Don's first independent fling "What Manners of Love," will wait.

Claudette laughingly said that ever since Lt. Comdr. Joel Pressman has been in the service she had been feeling like a bit of a "Guest Wife" herself. That is, whenever she received word her husband was within a thousand miles of Hollywood she packed her suitcase, got on her horse and traveled to see him some times for just a few days at a time.

THE JENNIFER JONES-20th Century-Fox case has hit a snag. There are several points which are still unsettled after, according to Joseph Schenck, unless they are made satisfactory. 20th will carry out its original intention and go into court. That would mean Jennifer could not start "Love Letters" for Hall Wallis, which is due to go into production the 16th of this month. Hall hoped to bring this case to a proper close with Joseph Schenck and David Schenck—both of whom I like so much, had settled their grievances. The original trouble started over "Laura," which Miss Jones did not make after her "Song of Bernadette."

LEE SHUBERT, Broadway

magnate, gets here this coming week to confer with Frank Orsatti on his musical, "Sweet Surrender." In fact, it's practically Frank's whole show for he arranged the deals involving the music by Dimitri Tiomkin, the lyrics by Frederick Herbert, and the book by Claude Binyon and Bill Walsh. But what's the deal? Well, the deal is that Leo Carrillo and James Melton will be the stars. Frank said "Sweet Surrender" should be another "Oklahoma!" only with a locale of early California. When Shubert gets here he will also discuss with Frank "On Your Beautiful Doll," another musical, and "The Father of Brazil," a comedy for the P. R. Brothers.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Here's a little romance that will bear watching. Gail Russell and Freddie Barrio, half-owner of Lucey's Restaurant, Lucey's is across the street from Paramount and Gail met him when she went there for lunch. Barrio is very good looking and Gail, who was engaged on the strength of her resemblance to Hedy Lamarr, is a beauty. 'Tis said he is head over heels in love with her, and all she has to do is let him slip the engagement ring on her finger.

"THE CZARINA" is on my list of pictures to see. I visited the set and heard Tallulah

Bankhead read her lines, giving just a little hidden meaning, as only she can do. She has never been dubbed a great actress for nothing, the way she sailed through that dialogue on the first reading. Ernst Lubitsch, who is producing, was on the set conferring with Otto Preminger, the director, and Ernst, who is a little heavy on touch of suggestion a dozen Hays Offices couldn't find objectionable, Charles Coburn responded to Tallulah with equal eloquence and Bill Eythe was influenced by the two more experienced actors. You should see Tallulah's costume, a lace dress of the period, and she was dripping with emeralds.

THIS SOUNDS awfully, awfully like a press agency story. But if true, it's amusing. Ray Milland is in New York making scenes for "Lost Week End." He writes his wife that while he was running out of Bellevue Hospital, doing a scene for the picture, a cop nabbed him, mistaking him for an escaped psychopathic patient, catching him after a brief chase. The cameras were concealed in vans parked in front of the hospital for authentic shots of the lo-cale. Billy Wilder also felt that would be one way of keeping away curious onlookers. Ray did some explaining to the cop, who wouldn't believe him until he was shown the cameras.

SNAPEBOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLL. CTED AT RANDOLPH N. CARP. LINDS when you visit the Village that is home to the stars. Appearing on the set, Stevens says that he is looking for his next big role. "I want to play every kind of role, so I expect to be busy," he says under contract to RKO. In Columbia, he will become a film and inquiry; June Hutton will play the blonde starlet; Robert Montgomery will play the role of the Argentine; and Betty Noyes can not seem to find an marriage. He wants to be in the month and she keeps postponing the date. "But she is very playful over it," says Don Reed's husband, Bill Tuttle, made of him; Laraine Day celebrates her birthday October 13 and just to prove she is not suspicious has invited 13 guests to dinner. Many Coleman's flowers and notes of welcome in her dressing room when she returned to Warners a few days ago. She will make a picture as soon as a story is found. Personally, I think she is more attractive than ever since the birth of her twins; Sheila Ryan and Steve Crane. Lana Turner's ex, an are every-night date; Rosalind Russell won't be able to get a story for her picture. She had a slight relapse and is being kept quiet at the hospital for a week or so longer; Don Lopez is hosting a party honoring Sona Hov in tonight at the Alhambra; Anna Maybar and Humphrey Bogart in a quiet corner at Mike Lyman's; Jack Benny says he went all over the South Pacific in pouring rain and never caught cold and now he has the worst one of his life.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—I suppose this might be considered the golden age of burlesque comedians. Not that the funny men from "Arlycue" haven't always moved up—the familiar list includes W. C. Fields, Fred Allen and Abbott and Costello—but a look around now reveals some not too well known who have climbed from burlesque into the legitimate stratum and done right well.

Daddy of the group is veteran Bobby Clark, of "Mexican Hayride." The Broadway boarders are Looney Lewis of "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," Jack Mann and Eddie Yubell of "One Touch of Venus," Park and West at the Strand, Charles Howard in "Bloomer Girl," Jack Gleason of "Follow the Girls," and Bobby Morris, slated for "What a Romeo."

Phil Silvers proved a delightful adjunct to the movie, "Cover Girl." Murray Briskos and Mase Freeman will star in "Mexican Hayride" overseas, and Joey Faye, last seen in "Allah Be Praised," is already abroad entertaining the troops. Red Marshall, who replaced Rags Ragland in "Panama Hat," is making good in films.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—It seems to be getting to the point where you can't trust nobody around here, not even except Nellie Taylor. Joe Ross, who is the man.

And if I ever hear she has been borrowing the gold ingots at Fort Knox to play on the horses I will positively lose my last illusion.

My childish faith took another beating the other day—and, if I only knew where to find him, I would complain to Sen. Harry Truman about it.

Half a dozen witnesses came here from Baltimore to testify before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The burden of their testimony was that they had resigned from the CIO because they felt it was getting overly red around the gills, meaning Communists.

During a recess, the six fugitives from a Hillman chain gang were taken to a cafe near the Capitol. An investigator for the committee went along. Feeling no imminent menace in the air, he neglected to take along a machine gun.

The guardian saw that his charges were served nourishing food. Just then he was called to the telephone.

He returned in time to see an individual he recognized rise hurriedly from the witnesses' table and scram out.

"What was that fellow doing?" he asked his charges.

The reply put him into a dither.

"He didn't say much," said one of the witnesses. "All he said was that we were making a big mistake."

"So that's all?" gasped the guardian. "Well, it seems to be plenty."

He reported back to his own committee.

"And," he said, "do you know who that guy was? An investigator for the Truman Committee."

THE SIX were supposed to be surprise witnesses. No announcement had been made of their coming and their identities were confidently believed to be secret.

Chicago, burlesque as burlesque is done better than ever. Boston, for instance, has three houses featuring strippers. Personally, I always considered this form of art exceedingly dull as well as frequently embarrassing, but I must admit that some of the graduates of burlesque, with their faces clean and their mouths washed out with soap, have proven to be very funny fellows.

WHILE ON the subject of burlesque, an interesting aftermath of Mickey Rooney's splurge with M. G. M. occurred when Mickey's father, Joe Yule, was released by the studio. Joe was originally signed, not so much for his talents as because an embarrassed M. G. M. didn't enjoy the way he belted himself at Los Angeles burlesque theater, "Joe Yule," read the signs, and underneath: "Mickey Rooney's Father!"

IF EVER I am asked to select the girl I would most like to be, I am afraid I would have to single out Sherry Brattin of Leon & Eddie's for that deplorable distinction. She has beautiful teeth and eyes, her figure is a dream (and I am reliably informed she does not have to diet to keep it that way), and she receives hundreds of letters from boys here and overseas asking for pin-up pictures—but personally, I'd rather be a fish.

You see, Sherry's theatrical trademark happens to be the longest and most luxurious mop of dark hair in town. It falls to almost hip-length and she is obliged to have it finger-waved three times weekly.

was assured, the "Happy Warrior" gave a short statement to reporters that the outcome represented the will of the people.

Marty Sommers, then a reporter, but now a big magazine editor, read up town with Al. The former Governor seemed dazed.

Marty tried to engage him in conversation but Al was wrapped in his thoughts. Finally he turned from looking out the window and heaved a sigh. "You know," he said, "if I were talking to myself, 'Joe could have won with One-Eyed Connelly this time.'"

OPA HELD a big rally for employees the other day. Among the distinguished personages attending were Mrs. Roosevelt, Chester Bowles, and five musical gentlemen known as the "Five Kernels of Corn."

Boston After Dark

BEST NEWS OF THE WEEK from the Hollywood front is that Damon Runyon, whose byline ornamented this newspaper for so many years, has scored a sensational success with his first major assignment as a producer for 20th Century-Fox.

Damon produced "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," a story based on the life of Ernest Ball, who composed some of America's real "folk-music." Preview for the press disclosed that "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" is so good that it may become the biggest success of a movie company which has specialized in opulent musical films.

"THE ICECAPADES" will play the Boston Arena, which glitters under coats of new paint and shines like new after a summer of refurbishing, for a full week before the leapfrogs to its premiere in Cleveland. Bostonians may be forward-looking enough to have seen this early of the expected tremendous demand for seats.

THE ARKNA, like sundry other ambitious ventures of the late Sam Simon, who was concessioner at the Garden, Suffolk Downs and Rockingham Park, is being directed by Sam's widow, Mrs. Beatrice (Boo) Simon. And friends of the modest and popular little business genius who parlayed a small delicatessen into a huge fortune, will be interested to know that a memorial to Sam will be unveiled at the Roxbury Synagogue in Baker St., on Oct. 22.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: The attractive young woman who is now presiding over the busy cash register at Ruby Fox's Den is Ruby's daughter, Doris. Marion Elliott is a big hit at the Sature Room of the Hotel Fensgate. Buddy Banks is being held over at the Melody Standish Cocktail Lounge. Bing Crosby will detour via Boston on his jaunt home to Hollywood from his overseas trip to sing for the troops, says Boston friends of the crooner. Jack McCarthy, the downtown department store executive, is convalescing nicely at Newton Hospital. (Jack's brother, Joe, a former Boston newspaperman, is editor of Yank, the soldiers' newspaper.)

FRANK SINATRA's startling social appearance at the White House was arranged by Bob Hannagan, the campaign manager for 16 years in the White House, over a luncheon at Todd's Shor's, according to Variety. Rags Ragland, who was starring at the Old Howard a few seasons ago, and Mr. Shor, the restaurateur, were "in" on the White House appearance. Hannagan volunteered to arrange the meeting for the trio; negotiated a phone call and made good on his promise. A bit of honey attached to the Sinatra visit in the Washington Voice was that the Hollywood Voice was scheduled to appear at a testimonial luncheon being given by the Vin-hoes (the New York luncheon club) to Westbrook Pegler. Mr. Pegler's feeling for F.D.C. however, undoubtedly was not affected. It couldn't be.

"I REMEMBER MAMA," the John van Druten is regarded as the best early season prospect for the honor of being the first comedy "smash" of the New York season.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—

Carole Landis' next picture is "Too Many Wives." Bing Crosby will definitely play the lead in Harry Tugend's production of "California." Pvt. Red Skelton and George Davis are voicing... Twentieth Century-Fox is trying to get a script of the famous "A Fool There Was" that will meet with the approval of the Hayes Office. If they do, the studio wants Marlene Dietrich to play in it. With film purchased from American, Argentina has been making anti-Carole Landis American shorts. There is one called "Oh, Mr. Hull," which lams him. James Dunn will be the leading man in "The Brown." Marie Winslow asked if Fred MacMurray played two roles in "Double Indemnity." At Universal they call him Turban at Bay.

LESTER COWAN intends to have the premiere of his anti-Nazi film "Tomorrow The World," in Yorkville. Xavier Cugat's companion between numbers at Ciro's is Ramsy Ames. Jimmy Durante is teaching Lauritz Melchior how to sing "Unbrag" for a number in a picture. Van Johnson has moved in and has been escorting Kay Williams. Franchot Tone and Melba have been huddling for they want Tone to play a lead in "They Were Expendable" which Com. John Ford will direct on leave from the Navy. Virginia Clough says that money isn't everything—if you've got all you need. Hollywood is a place where "party men" don't necessarily vote.

GINGER ROGERS and Lunt Turner, who are not too friendly toward each other, are in "Weekend at the Waldorf," but they haven't any scenes together. Rudyard Kipling's "Kim" is being rewritten at Metro as a picture for Betty McDowell. Charles Boyer will produce another picture as soon as he completes "Together Again" with Irene Dunne at Columbia. John Carroll and Helen Forrest are voicing. Lt. Robert Taylor is now at Twentieth Century-Fox to do the commentary for "The Fighting Lady."

Big 4 Plan

against them. The United States and Britain argued against such veto.

As a matter of high policy, the issue may have to go to a meeting of Premier Stalin, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Such a meeting in the near future is regarded by competent authorities as a possibility even though Russia still is not at war with Japan. They say that in the interest of perfecting a world peace design Stalin may be willing to participate in talks with Chiang as well as with Roosevelt and Churchill.

The only thing officially announced on this point, however, is that the four governments "have agreed that after further study of these proposals they will take necessary steps with a view to the preparation of complete proposals which could then serve as a basis for discussion at a full United Nations conference."

The blueprint calls for this machinery:

1-General international organization to be known as "The United Nations." Each agency proposed would be part of organization.

2-General Assembly. All members of organization belong to assembly, each having one vote. The assembly would debate broad problems of peace and security, control of armaments and the like. It could admit or expel members and make recommendations for action to the Security Council by two-thirds vote. It would meet at least once a year.

3-Security council. The United States, Britain, France, and China "and, in due course, Russia," would compose permanently five of the 11 members. The assembly would elect the other six for two-year terms. By system of voting still undecided, the council would have power to order use of force, economic measures, political isolation or any other steps necessary to put down aggressor state. First, however, it would try peaceful means such as negotiation and arbitration.

4-An international court of justice.

5-Economic and social council.

6. To consist of 15 member nations, none permanent, holding three-year terms. Its purpose would be to promote international economic stability and humanitarian activities, designed to remove causes of war. In addition to these large units, the plan proposes creation of a "military staff committee"—a high command for the organization. To be made up of the military leaders of the big powers, it could add temporarily the staff chiefs of other nations.

The plan, which could serve as a charter for the organization by changing a few words, does not define a "peace-loving state" nor what constitutes aggression.

It deals in considerable detail, however, with means for providing and using force and other measures against an aggressor. "The Security Council," it says, "should be empowered to determine what diplomatic, economic, or other measures not involving the use of armed force should be employed to give effect to its decisions, and to call upon members of the organization to apply such measures."

"Such measures may include complete or partial interruption of rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio and other means of communication and the severance of diplomatic and economic relations.

"Should the security council consider such measures to be inadequate, it should be empowered to take such action by air, naval or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security."

Boston American, Oct. 9-27

"Such action may include demonstrations, blockade and other operations by air, sea or land forces."

THERE'LL BE A NEW DAY . . . when your complexion will look as vibrant and ageless as RKO Star Laraine Day's . . . if a brand new estrogenic cream keeps its promise . . . to make you look younger than your years . . . because it contains the physiological equivalent of nature's own youth hormone.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HIDE PARK, Sunday.—I left Washington Friday on the night train to attend former Governor Smith's funeral. In the past few years I had seen comparatively little of him, but for many years, while he was Governor of New York, and particularly when he campaigned for the presidency in 1928, I saw him often. He did a great deal for his State, and the people of New York should be extremely grateful for the years he gave in their service.

The romance that began when he was a young man never died, and after his wife's death I think he probably had little desire to live. His children will feel sadly bereft, because he was always the center of his family, and they counted on him to share their joys and sorrows.

In Washington, on Friday, we held a committee meeting of the National Achievement Award, sponsored by Chi Omega, to consider candidates for the coming year's award.

MANY AWARDS are granted to men for achievement in various fields, but there are comparatively few which single out women in different fields of work and call to our attention the fact that they, too, have achieved eminence. This award has been given in the field of the arts, of science, of government work and of business.

I still remember Alexander Woolcott delivering an address when Katherine Cornell received the award. Miss Cornell trembled as she sat beside me, knowing that she would have to respond. At that time I concluded to me that a speech was far worse than acting a part in a play, because the part was a shield between you and the public, whereas the spotlight, I was reminded of this when Edith Barrymore came to town with me the other afternoon and told me how she dreaded speaking at a meeting of the OPA staff on Friday afternoon, in which she and I took part.

YOU MAY CHOOSE to overlook those "little" lines that gradually develop into deep creases. You may ignore that droopiness of the contour that marks the first stages of a definitely aged appearance. But your glands aren't deceived.

They go right on producing less and less of that precious estrogenic substance . . . which is responsible for keeping the complexions of young adults fresh . . . firm and youthful looking. It may not be a very pleasant fact to face . . . but an inevitable one if we continue skin neglect. However, there's a rosy side to this complexion picture.

Because of the research and findings of science in endocrinology in recent years . . . help is now offered to women past thirty . . . in retarding the effects of aging on the skin. So thanks to the miracle of science . . . and the efforts of a beauty house which has kept abreast of cosmetic advance and delved deep and long into the subject . . . they have perfected . . . and are now presenting an estrogenic cream after years of experimentation and testing.

PASSED MANY TESTS

This new cream . . . containing a scientific which they claim is the physiological equivalent of nature's own youth hormone . . . is the counterpart of that precious estrogenic substance . . . so abundantly present in young adults . . . but which dwindles with age until it finally approaches the vanishing point. Thus . . . even though our own supply of that vital skin food decreases as we grow older . . . we can now replace it. What a world! And isn't science wonderful?

The famous laboratories sponsoring this new face-youthifying cream . . . had it extensively tested not only by doctors . . . but on women as well . . . before they claimed it had passed the most rigid scientific standards. So here, indeed, is new hope for the young of heart . . . the promise that we can look younger than our years. And, isn't that every woman's wish?

You take one-half teaspoon . . . no more no less . . . massaging it into the skin of face, throat and hands. It should be used every night . . . and left on all night . . . because only in this way will the cream accomplish its work. In 60 days or less . . . you should notice marked and visible improvement in the condition of your complexion.

For the name of this brand new cream containing scientific, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hit-Run Bridals

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THERE ARE THOSE who say girls marry servicemen after a week or less acquaintance with that $50 a month allowance and the magnet.

If you read my mail, I believe you'd change your minds. It's not the $50—it's the hypnotism of circumstances—swept up by time, place and glamour. Girls—small-town, shy girls at that—go through marriage ceremonies with men who are practically strangers to them.

This situation has been dramatically told in a movie "The Impatient Years." It's an account of a breathless marriage where the husband goes overseas after a three-day honeymoon. Later he learns that he has become a father. A couple of years pass. He and his wife meet—each full of doubts, distrust and watching for evidence of regret on the part of the other.

Jealousy plays its part, and between them they dramatize a situation that doesn't actually exist.

The judge, with more than Solomon-like wisdom, issues a judicial order which provides not only a delightful remedy but a wise solution. Sorry I can't tell the judge's device—it would spoil the play for you when you see it.

Here's a typical letter coming to this column on this subject:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:
My family is furious because I intend to marry a boy I've known only two weeks. He is 20, I am 18, and we are desperately in love. He is going to the Pacific where, as my father says, the bitterest fighting of the war hasn't even started. My parents argue 'suppose Bob is killed.' Well, at least I would have our honeymoon to remember."

Jeweled Keys on Dress

By BETTINA BEDWELL

NETTIE ROSENSTEIN, a brilliant dress designer who likes to design the jewelry that goes with her dresses, is giving you girls the keys to your chic this fall if you happen to be lucky enough to wear her clothes. She makes jeweled keys part and parcel of some of her newest models.

She makes a pair of gold and jeweled keys into a chachalate, for instance, and hangs it from the belt of a simple dress, as you can see in our sketch.

These keys probably are copied from the ponderous keys with which France, in the black pages of history, used to lock up her wine cellars. Be that as it may, they make a fine ornament to the black wool suit dress, which has an overblouse that closes diagonally from the neckline to the left hip. There is a small turn-over collar and a narrow belt.

ALL SHORT RIBS of beef are non-rationed. Happily so, too, for much food pleasure has a short-rib beginning. Baked short ribs and beans are deliciously unusual. On the other hand, braised short ribs are not to be surpassed. Either way the lean beef now on the market needs longer cooking than beef we used to get. But slow, moist cooking will give tender results every time.

Lean non-rationed beef not only gives delicious flavor and tenderness when cooked properly, but it also has all the high quality proteins, vitamins and minerals of the choicest beef steaks. It plays a vital part in the nutrition program.

Tested recipes for short ribs and beans as well as for other delicious ways of cooking short ribs of beef follow:

BARBECUED SHORT RIBS

1 lbs. short ribs 2 tsp. fat
1 medium onion 1/2 cup vinegar
2 tbsp. brown sugar 2 tsp. salt
1 cup catsup 1/2 cup water
3 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce (optional)
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1/2 cup diced celery

Have ribs cut into sections two to three inches long. Brown

Beef Short Ribs and Beans

in lard. Brown minced onion. Add all remaining ingredients to short ribs. Cover and cook slowly or bake at 350 deg. F. 2 to 3 hours or until tender. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

BEEF SHORT RIBS AND BEANS

1 lbs. beef short ribs Water
1 lb. navy beans 1 onion
2 tbsp. brown sugar
Salt and pepper

Soak beans in water overnight. Drain and put in kettle. Add brown sugar, salt and pepper, and sliced onion. Cover with water, cover, and simmer 2 hours. Brown short ribs. Place beans in large pot, put brisket on top and cover. Bake at 350 deg. F. for 1 to 2 hours or until meat is tender and beans are done. Add more water when necessary.

BRAISED SHORT RIBS AND VEGETABLES

1 lbs. short ribs of beef 2 tsp. fat
1 tsp. salt 1/2 cup water
5 medium-sized potatoes 5 small onions
2 parsnips 2 carrots
Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper and brown in hot fat. Add water, cover, and allow to simmer or bake in a slow oven 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Add whole potatoes and onions with parsnips and carrots cut in half. Season vegetables, cover, and continue cooking until vegetables are tender. Variation: 1/2 cup tomatoes may be used in place of parsnips.

SHORT RIBS WITH CORNMEAL DUMPLINGS

1 lbs. beef short ribs 3 tbsp. fat
Salt and pepper 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup flour 1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup cornmeal 1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. baking powder 1 egg
1/2 cup milk
Cut meat into individual servings. Brown on all sides in hot fat. Season. Add water and cook slowly for 2 1/2 hours or until the meat is almost tender. Sift dry ingredients together. Add egg and milk to the flour mixture. Stir until well blended. Drop by table-spoons on to the short ribs. Cover tightly and steam for 15 minutes. Remove to a serving platter and thicken the gravy with flour and water.

Wife's Visit Cheers Stricken Hub Flier

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The man who came back from the China hinterlands the hard way, Boston's Lt. Robert Wesselhoft, Jr., joked and laughed with his adoring wife in Walter Reed Hospital, but refused temporarily, at least to part with his new mustache.

Wesselhoft and his wife, the former Nancy Stevens, met here for the first time in 13 months after she flew in from Boston bearing pictures of his son, Robert, Jr., 6 months, whom he never has seen, and a brand-new razor.

"You wrote me you had grown a mustache so I brought along a razor," she explained. "You've got to shave it off."

But Wesselhoft laughed off her demand and talked about everything in the world except the three months of unbelievable adventure that left him stricken with paralysis. He was brought home by mule-back, scout plane and hospital airship.

Although he has lost 40 pounds, Wesselhoft now is able to leave his iron lung for 10 hours at a time and slowly is regaining his health.

Mrs. Wesselhoft was the toast of some 60 wounded veterans that have become fast friends of her husband. They recognized her from pictures prized by her husband, and were among the first to greet her as she walked into the hospital.

THE JAPS STILL HAVE THE FATS!

You must keep saving used kitchen grease!

THE FAR EAST was our biggest outside source of fats and oils, and the Japs still hold that. So even though we are winning victories in Europe, remember that these victories do not help this shortage. We must keep on saving used fats in our own kitchens!

YOU WOMEN OF AMERICA have been doing a grand job saving used fats. This year you are turning them in at the rate of more than 200,000,000 pounds a year. It isn't a glamorous job, but you have plugged away at it... scraping the grease from pans and broilers... saving meat trimmings and table scraps!

KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK! Used fats are needed more urgently than ever to make explosives, tanks, guns, synthetic rubber, soaps, medicines and hundreds of other vital war and civilian materials. So save now as you've never saved before! When the can is full, rush it to your butcher and get 2 free red points and 4¢ for every pound.

Buddy Gifts Must Be Sent This Week

You're on the home stretch now! It's the last week for mailing Christmas gift packages to the boys overseas, and it will be happiness from home to each one who receives one. The absolute deadline for mailing overseas Christmas packages is Oct. 15, and in many communities, since this date falls on Sunday, postoffices will not be open and the final mailing date will be Oct. 14.

This is your last opportunity to enroll in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas campaign, sponsored by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, and to make certain there is not one lonely and forgotten American boy overseas on Christmas Day.

We still have the names of boys without families of their own who, unless you remember them with a Christmas gift package, may spend a homesick and unhappy Christmas. Enroll now in this patriotic campaign.

Fill out and mail immediately the coupon accompanying this article and we will send you the name of a soldier, sailor or merchant mariner to whom you may bring unexpected Christmas happiness.

If you are in doubt concerning gifts, visit the departments in stores and gift shops which specialize in presents to men overseas. You will be able to procure at most of these stores, and at chain stores, an official packing box, paper and string to make your package secure.

Do not send perishable or breakable goods, intoxicants, inflammables, poisons or anything which might damage the mail. Remember that small, light gifts are preferable, because the luggage of a soldier or sailor is limited to what he can carry himself.

Here is a letter from Mrs. Edith Burke of Boston, mother of a former Record-American newsboy now fighting with the Seabees, who writes:

"As my son, who was one of your newsboys for several years is now overseas in the Seabees for his sake and also to do my little bit, I would like to have the name of some boy in service to whom I may send a Christmas box. My son's name is Edward Burke. He sold papers in the Back Bay, and was master carrier here for some time." There is no time for delay. Enlist now in this patriotic drive. Select your gifts, pack them and mail them immediately. And on Christmas Day you will have the reward of knowing that some overseas lad who is fighting your battle is the happier for your kindness.

EN ROUTE TO RECOVERY PANAMA, Panama (AP)—Antonio Jose Arze, leader of the Bolivian Leftist Revolutionary party, arrived here en route to New York for medical treatment.

YES, now's the time you're beginning to think of your family's warmth and comfort during the months ahead. The whole Anthracite Industry has been thinking of it, too. So if you'll co-operate in a few simple ways, we believe we can assure you your full share of clean, glowing Anthracite heat, and make the millions more tons of hard coal we're mining for war-born needs go round to everybody.

1. Please don't let a sudden crisp morning tempt you to start your furnace fire too soon this season.

2. Please control your fire—don't overheat your home. The surest and easiest way to regulate a fire is to install a thermostat. This device automatically maintains your home at any degree of temperature you may desire. Your dealer can now supply you with one of these units at very reasonable cost.

3. Please accept whatever domestic size Anthracite your dealer can deliver. Any will burn efficiently if you will follow the few simple firing instructions in the Anthracite Conservation Booklet he'll give you. Anthracite Industries, Inc., 101 Park Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

Imagine a completely automatic Anthracite heater, many times smaller than any furnace or boiler in existence today, efficient, powerful, inexpensive. This revolutionary hard coal heater will be yours after the war.

"I was thinkin'..."

by: LIZZY ORT

Jess received a letter from me good friend Al, who is overseas and recently returned from overseas. Al says that he sure remembers me and me popular grille, and meets a lotta other guys who say the same. I'm sure glad that he has pleasant memories of yers trooly and me Grille, as it fills me wid pride to be supplyin' our boys wid good old American memories. . . . Well, Al, here is some informayshun you will enjoy; a few of our friends have asked me wot U think of the beer over there, whitch goes to show that they are thinkin' of you and remember you. Lieutenant John Rooney recently returned from overseas, a friend of mine (formerly with a Boston newspaper), dropped in last week and we showed about olden days. An ideal tour: the Knickerbocker Cafe on Stuart Street, the Rex on Broadway and Washington, Billy Hurley's Log Cabin on Albany Street, Jack's Cafe in Charlestown, and then back to the famous and ever popular Ort's El Tropico Room, where Chick Harris, a great orchestra leader is now manager of my El Tropico Room. . . . Here's good luck to all the boys over there . . . and in the name of me Grille and El Tropico Room here's wishing them all a safe and soon return to the good old and grand U. S. A. Adv.

"There's a telephone in the house where I am moving. Can you connect it for me?"

This is a perfectly natural question which is frequently asked of us today.

We wish we could say yes in all cases, but our answer must be qualified.

Yes—we can probably connect it if you already have service in the house from which you are moving, and if you are moving within the same exchange or immediate geographical area.

Yes—we can connect it if your use of a telephone is essential to the proper discharge of your duties as a member of one of the following groups: (1) armed forces and government; (2) war production and directly related activities; (3) public health and welfare.

No—we cannot connect it if you are moving outside of your present telephone exchange or geographical area, and we cannot connect it if you do not have telephone service at your present address, unless you are in one of the above listed groups that are entitled to immediate service.

You see, since there are not enough telephones to go around, we must distribute those that are available as fairly as possible. The telephone that is in the house to which you expect to move may be needed by a doctor or an essential war worker or by someone who has already been waiting many months.

Please understand, however, that your application will not be forgotten, and that it will be filled in its turn.

Asks Law Killing Divorce Mills

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (INS)—Sen. Langer (R.) of North Dakota said today he would press for action immediately after the Congressional recess "to end Mexican and Reno divorce mills."

The Long-Dormant Capper Bill for nationwide, uniform regulations for marriage and divorce would establish marriageable ages for men at 18, with parent or guardian consent required under 21, and girls at 16, with consent required under 18. Applications to wed would have to be made two weeks prior to license issuance.

Divorce ground would be limited to infidelity, cruel and inhuman treatment, abandonment or failure to provide for one year, habitual drunkenness, incurable insanity or conviction of an infamous crime.

Robinson Battles Jannazzo Friday

By JACK CONWAY

RAY (SUGAR) ROBINSON, who clashes with Izzy Jannazzo of New York in a ten-round bout at the Garden on Friday night, is being hailed as the greatest welterweight of all time.

I am willing to admit that Robinson would probably easily win from Freddy Cochrane, world's title holder who is now in the Navy, but he will have to show me more fighting form than he has in his two previous Boston encounters to convince me he is better than some of the former welterweight kings who have tossed leather.

I am thinking of Jack Britton, Ted 'Kid' Lewis, Jimmy McLarnin, Barney Ross, Henry Armstrong, Mickey Walker and other famous champions. I am also reminded of Dave Shide, Eddie Shevlin, George Ward and other contenders who possessed more than average boxing talent and would be stand out boxers today.

For skill, ring generalship and all-round ability I would class Jack Britton as the best welterweight of them all. Britton and Ted 'Kid' Lewis fought some stirring battles.

One night at the old Arena Britton cut Charley White of Chicago to ribbons with left jabs, while he guarded his own jaw with his right. Britton knew that if he could stop White from scoring with his famous left hook that he would win easily, and he did.

I saw Mickey Walker strip Britton of his title in the old New York Garden. Britton was on his way out as a star at the time. Walker was a young, strong, aggressive fighting machine. The nickname "Toy Bulldog" fitted him perfectly. In later years gallant little Andy Callahan of Lawrence, who died a hero's death with a Texas Division in Italy, used to like to refer to himself as another "Toy Bulldog." Andy's ring hero was Walker, and in battle, both in the ring and in war, he proved he had a heart as big as that of the pride of Rumson, N. J.

McLarnin Good Puncher

JIMMY McLARNIN was a terrific puncher as well as a finished boxer. He could level any opponent he could hit on the chin.

The Barney Ross who won the championship from McLarnin was a brilliant boxer, fast and a clean, hard puncher. Barney was on his way out as a star when he lost to youthful Henry Armstrong. The fact Hammering Henry won the world's lightweight, lightweight and welterweight championships entitles him to special consideration when rating great champions. Under bitter ring fire Armstrong repeatedly proved he had what it takes.

Dave Shide, who now operates a tavern in Pittsfield, was a good boxer and a stout hitter. Shide knocked out Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo in New York when the latter was being hailed as a sensation. Shide, boxing from a crouch, came up from the floor to hit the straight up Slattery on the chin with a right-hand smash that sent him down for the count. Eddie Shevlin, who held the New England title for years and who is a captain in the Army, would have given Sugar Robinson a run for the money if he were battling in the ring today. Two of Shevlin's greatest fights were against Shide in Boston. Eddie won the decision in the first bout, while he was beaten in the second contest.

Kloby an Action Fighter

"YOUNG" KLOBY, YD champion, was an action fighter. He had retired as a boxer before World War I. He resumed boxing while in Germany with the U.S. Army.

When he returned home he knocked out Charley Parker of the South End, Eddie Shevlin and won a decision over Paul Doyle. Kloby now resides on Cape Cod.

Johnny Cuddy used to draw crowds of 18,000 for Kloby's bouts in Lawrence. Johnny Dundee, who was only a lightweight at the time, finally went to Lawrence and outscored Kloby easily.

Kloby dropped his New England welterweight title to Nate Siegal who also had an overseas boxing record.

I shall be thinking of these former ring greats when Robinson battles Izzy Jannazzo at the Garden on Friday night. I shall be comparing "Sugar" with these men, and he will have to be mighty good if he is to top the list.

The Robinson-Jannazzo bout will be broadcast over a national hook-up by the Gillette Safety Razor Company with Bill Corum, America's No. 1 sports columnist, and other stars giving radio listeners the detailed report and the color of the action.

The Disabled Veterans' Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser will receive 10 percent of the gross receipts after deduction of Federal and State taxes, while Robinson will give the fund 20 percent of his purse. As a former soldier, "Sugar" is eager to aid service men who have been injured.

Cards 2-1 to Win Today

By JOE CASHMAN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—The All-St. Louis World Series between Cardinal club that doesn't quit and a Brownie bunch that won't quit may become just another item in the baseball record books by nightfall.

The Red Birds, carried to their third victory in the engagement on the Sabbath by the magnificent clutch pitching of Morton Cooper and home run drives by Ray Sanders and Danny Litwhiler, could wrap up the championship in the sixth game this p. m. when they'll trot out either Max "Lefty" Lanier or Sylvester "Blix" Donnelly against Nelson Potter.

The betting is 2-1 that the National Leaguers do it. The Browns seemed to have shot their bolt when Denny Galehouse was beaten, 2-0, yesterday.

But the betting is 100 to 1 that if the Brownies are vanquished, they'll go down with all flags flying.

We'll give you the same odds on the Cards fighting to the best of their ability to the bitter end, should the Brownies snap back to win today and capture the seventh game, which would be played Wednesday.

Who ever the ultimate winner, he'll be forced to concede that the loser was dead game to the finish. More often than not in the past there was reason to suspect that the World Series loser quit on itself.

TWO GAME CLUBS

But there hasn't been the least sign of "choking" on the part of either contender in this classic.

The first game was decided by a one run margin. The second game went 11 innings.

The Browns took the third game by a four-run margin, but so strongly did the Cards threaten that Luke Sewell had two twirlers warming up over the last three frames, while Jack Kramer pitched out of one hole after another.

The Cards won the fourth game by a four-run margin and this time it was the Cardinal bull-penners who had to work overtime, with Harry "Lefty" Brecheen not being out of danger until Marty Marion started a hat-boasting double play in the eighth.

Then there was the Sabbath tilt which was anybody's ball game, until Mort Cooper clinaxed an amazing performance by striking out three pinch hitters in the ninth.

In short, there's been virtually nothing to choose between the two clubs. At least, both have lived up to expectations.

The Cards were expected to win. It seems as though they

BULLETIN
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Chill weather, with the temperature no higher than 65, was in prospect today for the sixth World Series game. The sky was cloudy at mid-morning. There was little temperature rise from the 47 degrees recorded at 7 a. m. The weather bureau forecast said at last partly cloudy and continued cool conditions would prevail at game time.

They were expected to show the greater punch. They've done that.

The Browns were counted upon to show great pitching and little else. Their pitching has more than come up to advance notices. Denny Galehouse, coming back in the Sunday game after winning the Wednesday opener, would have had his second victory, if Cooper hadn't picked that day to turn in his first impressive effort in six starts against American League opposition in World Series and all-star games.

The Browns, in fact, made more hits than the Cards.

This did them no good because (1) Saunders hit a 3-1 pitch out of the lot with two down in the sixth, (2) Danny Litwhiler ushered in the eighth by propelling a 1-1 pitch into the distant stands in right center for a round-tripper, (3) Cooper hung up 12 strike outs, one under the all-time series record, and most of them came with Brownies on bases.

At long last, satisfying American leaguers that he's every bit as great a pitcher as his 66 victories in the National League over the last three years would indicate, Big Morton sealed the heights of pitching immortality in the sixth inning.

The ever-bustling Brownies turned on the heat full blast in an effort to repair the damage caused by the Sanders slam. Mike Kreevich opened the last half with a sharp single to right. Gene Moore tried to sacrifice but the attempt mistimed when Cooper picked up the ball and shot it to second in time to head off Kreevich.

The Brownies kept swinging. Vern Stephens, author of three hits in the game, singled to third with the then tying run. George McQuinn fell into a two-strike hole and pelted out by drawing a walk, filling the bases. You could hear the gleeful laughter of the American League curse that had been hounding Cooper for three years.

Mort heard it, too. And how he silenced it.

Al Zarilla came to bat. He watched one bad pitch go by.

But before the echo of Ziggy Sears' "ball one" cry had died away, this Brownie batter was a dead bird.

Three strikes he never saw blazed by him, while he stood there with his bat on his shoulder.

Up came Mark Christman. He fouled off one pitch. Three more serves saw him standing there helpless against them. He turned around and walked sadly back to the bench, another strike-out victim.

There was seven straight clutch strikes in a row.

There was the ball game.

There was Cooper redeeming himself to everybody's satisfaction.

Galehouse wasn't far behind Cooper in strikeouts. Danny Whiffled ten. That's the way it has been all through the series. No club has ever been far behind the other.

But the Brownies are a game back now and muthinks they'll never draw up even again.

FORECASTING BALDNESS

This young man has a good head of hair and he doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly, and he loses a great deal of hair each day.

In a few years it will be too late, and his appearance will be permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. Don't let baldness come to you since scientific Warner treatment and proper care afterward can prevent it in most cases.

There is no charge or obligation for a private scalp examination and consultation.

Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. There is a separate department for women.

Hours: Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m.

The Lost Weekend

Based on the powerful, best-selling novel of five unforgettable days in a man's life

Don ran to borrow ten dollars from Mr. Wallace . . .

"Don't hide or evaporate," he told the bottle.

The ladies squealed, "Oh, Mr. Birnam! Are you hurt?"

IN A FEW seconds, Don was dressed again in dry clean clothes. He ran down and borrowed 10 dollars from Mr. Wallace at the grocery store. In the liquor store he got a quart and bounded up the stairs, tore off the wrapper and poured a drink all in the space of five minutes.

He held the glass in his shaking hand and almost did not need it. Why didn't I do this in the first place? he asked himself with a surprised smile. What a story that trip to the closed pawnshops would make. Great! He drank.

The new drink warmed his stomach, all his whole tired frame. He poured another. In a short time, the quart was almost half empty. He looked at it in alarm which gave way to a feeling of delight. For once he was going to have some enough not to be caught short! He had the money.

He sprang up. That money, did he still have it?

As he pulled what was left of Mr. Wallace's ten from his pocket, he wondered again what had happened to all the money he had had yesterday. Certainly he had never spent it.

To hell with it. These bills were as good as enough-to-drink and more. Provided he got there and back. He was feeling great, a little unsteady, perhaps, but strong enough. He opened the door and looked back at the half-full bottle. He pointed, "You stay there!" he said. "Don't hide or evaporate! I'll be right back."

At the top of the stairs, he heard people on the landing below—the two ladies and their dog Sophie who lived in the front apartment. They saw him and stepped back. "No, come along," he said, "I'll wait."

"No, Mr. Birnam. You come down."

"Very well," he said. "Thank you." He started down smiling, his hat in his hand. He found himself falling. A wonderful feeling, easy light. The dog barked, the ladies squealed, "Oh, Mr. Birnam! Are you hurt?"

He picked himself up. "Not a bit. Hello, little Sophie."

The two ladies exchanged glances. "Mr. Birnam, are you sure you're all right?"

"Quite. I'm not hurt a bit, don't trouble yourself. Sorry to have caused such a fuss. Goodbye Sophie!" He walked lightly along the landing and turned for the second flight.

Flight is good. His silly foot missed as before—it was easy, delightful. . . . He heard the women squeal again and saw with a smile the new-post rising like a growing expanding up-swinging hammer to strike . . .

Malden vs. Melrose May Decide Crown

By MIKE GILLOOLY

It's only the third week of the schoolboy football season but it might as well be Thanksgiving week as far as the State title is concerned.

For the two top teams in the standings, Melrose and Malden, meet on the holiday and the winner can be crowned right then and there.

Melrose has been the strongest team in these parts for over a year and when the two last met, the Red Raiders coasted by to an easy victory.

But what a difference that one year has made.

Melrose was hit by graduation and enlistments and the team is a pace off last year's squad defensively while just as good offensively.

Malden also lost a few via the same routes, but has benefited greatly despite the loss.

Dave Gavin had to rebuild a backfield when Walter Sheridan went to Holy Cross and George Sowle decided to join the Marines. He had Larry Brennan and Wendy Forbes and it's hard to find two better backs. He then dug deep and came up with Frank Leahy and Al Rathburn. The line, too, needed some rebuilding. From end to end Gavin sought replacements. Three veterans kept their positions but the other four are new.

At Malden the process was quite the opposite.

22 STRAIGHT, WON!

Eddie Melanson had a large returning squad. But after a bad year last season their spirits were anything but good and that was the first problem.

With a squad that size Melanson needed a lively assistant and he got one in Fuzzy Flumery. Between the two they took the squad and turned into the live-liest team around.

Johnny Carroll, Nick Belis and Izzy Yodlin started to go. The new wings, John Finn and Al Macy, brother of Bron, were breaking up plays that last year would have gone for scores. And the entire line was charging and working well.

The Golden Tornado had started to roar again and hung up its fourth straight by downing Haverhill over the weekend.

Melrose, in winning its 22nd straight under the tutelage of Dave Gavin, had to come from behind in the last minute of play to take Newton and the Red Raiders, which Malden will be on its toes for this all important holiday clash.

The big traditional game of the day is the 33rd meeting of Somerville and Medford and Somerville will be shooting for its first victory in all those years. Eddie Plidgen's Mustangs are in for a so-so year with no great material.

Irish Face Tough Hurdle in Green Here

Notre Dame, holder of the mythical 1943 national football title, has another triumph under its belt today, but from now on can look forward to nothing but hard work.

The Irish took their second game of the year Saturday from 58 to 0. From this week on, however, they must begin with a Dartmouth team which will bow if at all only after a bitter fight at Fenway Park and go on to consin, Illinois, Navy, Army, tough Georgia Tech and Great Lakes Naval, which married the South Bend record in the closing minutes of the last campaign.

Tulane was game, but provided no real test for Notre Dame. The Irish rolled out 301 yards from scrimmage to Tulane's 175 and unveiled a new running star in Chick Maggiori, who scored two of Notre Dame's four touchdowns.

Another tally was racked up by Ace Bob Kelly, who ran the ball 13 times for 77 yards and scored on Frank Danowski's 28-yard pass.

Army is another traditionally strong starter which must face off this week against tougher opposition than was seen Saturday when the Cadets marched over Brown, 59 to 7. Pitt, more experienced and always tough, is certain to provide stiffer resistance to Army.

Navy, upset by North Carolina Pre-Flight in a previous contest, came back to thrash Penn State, 35 to 14.

The North Carolina Pre-Flight Cloudbusters scored another significant triumph when they came off a win over Navy to beat Duke, 13 to 6. Stan Koslowski, ex-Holy Cross, and brilliant Otto Graham, former Northwesterner, shouldered the burden for the Cloudbusters, both passing and running the Flyers to victory.

Michigan defeated Minnesota, 28 to 13, for the prized little brown jug as Wolverine back Bob Wiese scored three times. Michigan twice halted Minnesota on the one-yard stripe and fumbles were costly to both teams.
